Mr. FIELD said: Mr. Speaker: It is with emotions of deep sorow that I perform the melancholy duty of anouncing to the House, the death of my coleague, William Chenault. He died at his resience in the county of Madison, on the morning of the 5th inst., after a somewhat protracted ill ness, from the disease of Typhoid fever.

You will remember, Mr. Speaker, and the House will remember, upon his arrival here at the commencement of this session, that, although in wretched health, yet so anxious was he to discharge the duties which had been imposed upon him by his constituents, that he took the oath rescribed by the Constitution, and remained mong us with his armor on, until his physical suffering became so intense and poignant, as to prevent him altogether from holding the place which his gallantry, his accomplishments, and his experience as a legislator, so well qualified im to adorn.

Mr. Speaker, it is not my purpose, upon this occasion, or upon any other occasion, to attempt to pass a high wrought eulogium upon the memory of my deceased friend and colleague. I know full well sir, "if you would praise Cæsar, say Cæsar, but go no further." It is not, therefore, necessary, in order to create a high regard for his memory, that I should yield to the influ ence of such a course. He represented the counties of Garrard and Madison in the Senate of Kentucky; he represented the county of Madison He represented the coun in the last Constitutional Convention, and he commenced and ended his public career as member of this House. His public acts are apart and parcel of the history of the Common vealth. His private virtues and moral worth is acts of benificence and charity, are treasured up in the hearts of those who knew him best.

I have imagined, Mr. Speaker, since the death of my colleague, that the wail of Madison—the leep grief she feels in the loss of her honored son, comes borne to me upon every passing oreeze; for in his death a fortress has fallen, and esolation is spread around. No other son o Madison, so far as I remember, has been a candi date so often without, at some time or other meeting with defeat. It was reserved for the is mented Chenault to bear his colors triumphantly and to come out of each succeeding conflict eve more than conqueror.

The wish—the last, fond, sacred, earthly wish of the patriot, stricken by the approach of death, impels him to his home, just as the instinct implanted by omnicience, in the wounded deer hur ies it to its lair, there to die.

My colleague was fortunate in being able to reach his home—his native county—the place where his life had glided on like a gentle river and there in the midst of friends whom he had loved so long and so well; and in the midst of generous and true-hearted constituency, who had always responded with alacrity to the gratifica tion of his political wishes, he laid him down and died!—he yielded up his spirit, and went home to God!—

Peace to the dust that in silence reposes, Beneath the dark shades of the cyphress and yew, Let Spring deck the spot with her earliest roses, And Heaven wash their leaves with its holiest dew.

Mr. HUSTON, said: Mr. Speaker: I trust that it will not be considered inappropriate that I yield to the feelings of the occasion, and cordially second the resolutions of the gentleman from Madison; not that I can add anything to the tasteful and feeling remarks of that gentleman in regard to the subject of this melancholy occasion. But, it was my good fortune to have enjoyed the acquaintance and friendship of William Chenault. I knew him at home, shared his generous hospitality around his fire-side. I have been connected with nim in official capacities, and admired his intelligent and faithful discharge of public duties.

He belonged to, and was an honored member of an ancient and honorable family, tracing its origin back to the old Heugenots who fled from tled, but recovered France to this country, to escape the religious persecutions consequent upon the revocation of er, I backed into the car again, much puzzled a to what they meant. Dreaming that I was being broiled on an immense gridiron, for the purpose he early pioneers of this country, and of the first settlers of the county of Madison. They were of "trying" me out, and that the fat was peculiarly marked by that energy of character, singleness of purpose, and strength of will, so characteristic of that heroic age of our Common wealth. These qualities were inherited and there awoke, delighted to find that I retained my nd intelligently exhibited in a career of marked uccess. As a friend, a neighbor, and a citizen, ne was a model of an old fashioned Kentucky entleman. But in the vigor of manhood, with he full armor of life's warfare upon him, and n the field of its conflicts, he has been taken to nis "long home." No rude sounds of this busy world will now reach his ear.

"He sleeps the sleep that knows no breaking, Morn of toil or night of waking."

He has been taken from us, his friends, his untry, and his church, when he could least be pared,-when the maturity of his manhood, and ne teachings of experience rendered him most

He had the consolation, as we learn, to die at is home, with the kind hearts of his social and mestic friends around him to cheer his last

He was a christian, sir, and his hand was al rays liberally opened to the christian charities. The christian's hope, "as an anchor, sure and steadfast," sustained him in "the dark shadow and valley of death." This, sir, is another of the oft recurring warnings to teach us that in life we are in the midst of death."

May we take heed of these things, and be pre ared, when the summons comes, to say with the deceased, "I know that my Redeemer liveth."
I trust, sir, that the resolutions will be unani-

Mr. LINDSEY said: Mr. Speaker: some twenty-three years since, I became acquainted with Mr. Chenault in this city. He was then a member of the Legislature and boarded with me. His acquaintance thus began, continued intimately through the period of his service in several sessions of the Leg-islature, and down to the end of our services to Throughout this period of years I had good opportunity of knowing the qualities of the head and heart of our deceased friend, and most cheer of the country had formerly ventured upon. fully do I bear witness to his worth as a citizen and a Legislator. He was firm and consistent et conciliatory in language and actions-a gen deman of quiet, unobtrusive ways, and as has been well said by those who preceded me, a man of worth in every sense. I had no idea that a man with respectable quantity of flesh was looked upon with any degree of surprise outside of your city limits. I only weigh two hundred and thirty-one ounds, and if I am said to be as broad as I an ong, it certainly was no reason for the ticker agent at the Fuffalo depot inquring "do you wish to go as freight, or as a passenger?" I told him with considerable asperity, "as a passenger of course," when he charged me for tickets for two! and up on my expostulating with him, he very impuden ly inquired if I supposed that any one else could sit in the same seat I occupied. Being aware that it was a matter of doubt, I said no more, but heard him mutter something to himself about hogs always going as freight, as I walked off, which remark was made, I presume, to an omn bus driver standing near. It certainly had no reference to me. Do you think it could?

I got on the cars somewhat ruffled in temper, and after crushing two or three women from a diameter of ten feet into about six inches, and flattening out an apple boy and pop-corn vender so that their identity becomes a matter of con iderable research, I finally obtained a seat oppo site an old, scraggy lady and her unmarried daugh emped to expand my lungs in the same manner, for me with my wig in a pool of tobacco juice, and my feet in the bony, unmarried girl's lap. Upon extricating myself from the wreck, I discovered, to my horror, that I had split the back of my coat, had utterly crushed out of existence three band-boxes, and obtained the eternal hate of the scraggy woman and her bony daughte forever. I tried to make my apologies, bu think I failed. My failure is easily explained, for whoever heard of any man making a decent apology in a fractured coat, and a head saturated with tobacco juice.

I then went into another car, in consequence of the indignation of the passengers having beer aroused by the two women alluded to, and espe ally as I heard a gentleman with short hair an not very placid face, inquiring if he hadn't better bunch him. Having no doubt that the him refer ed to meant me, I made myself as seldom as posible, and got into the next car. The seats in the ear were all weak, frail things, as four of them fell to pieces as I sat down on them. Upon makg my complaint to the conductor—who asked there was more than one of me—he suggested that had better go into the baggage car, and sit upon one of the express trunks. They being iron-bound, he thought they'd stand it, if nothing else ould. I did go in there. The baggage man no was not very polite, asked me what I want I told him that I wanted to stay in there .-He said it couldn't be did; and, if I came in, he would have to go out; there wasn't room "for them two trunks and both of us in that there bag gage car." I accommodated matters with him by giving him a dollar, (one of twenty I had bor ved,) and he agreed to ride on the outside of the car, while I occupied the inside. I got upon two express trunks, and was very comfortable Indeed, I should have been perfectly so, if the baggage man hadn't kept annoying me. He kept diving his head into the car, and asking me if I was going to New York, and upon my reply that I was, he would convey my reply to the break-man, who had evidently been talking of me all the way from Rochester. Finally the baggage man dove his head in again, as if to end some argument, and asked if I intended to go to Bar num's Museum when I got to New York. I told him I should; which information he conveyed to the breakman, who ejaculated, "Thought so-it" I couldn't imagine what they meant. They chuckled considerably, and said: "Seen him for nothin. > BOLD SURGICAL OPERATION .- A MAN'S TONGUE Removed.—The Edinburg [Scot.] Advertiser has the following:

"On the 8th inst., at noon, there was no small mount of excitement exhibited in the medical world and operating theatre of the Royal Infirm ary, Edinburg, resulting from the expectation of a very formidable surgical operation taking place that morning. At 12 o'clock the room was crowded to excess, and numbers of medical men from ll parts were assembled to witness it. The paient had for a long period suffered from cancer of the tongue, and Professor Syme had determind upon removing the organ bodily. Shortly af-er 12 o'clock the man was led into the theatre, placed upon the table, and quickly rendered pow-rless through the potent influence of the chloro orm which was administered to him. American State Convention.

The American Executive Committee for the State at large have called a convention of the delegates of the American party of the State to nominate a candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals.

The convention will be held in this city, Wednesday, January 27th inst. The basis of representation will be two delegates for each Representative district; that is, two delegates for each Representative in the lower branch of the State Legislature.

It is hoped that this Convention will be fully attended, and that the watch fires of the American party will be made to glow with renewed brightness throughout the American papers throughout the State are requested to call attention to this Con-

If We can supply extra copies of the Daily Commonwealth put up in wrappers ready for mailing, at two cents a piece. Orders left at the office or with our Reporters, in the Senate and House of Representatives, will be promptly atended to.

The Governor's house will be open for the reception of company from 8 o'clock until 111/2 o'clock, on every Monday evening during the ses sion of the General Assembly.

NEWe are requested to announce WILLIAM R ALLEN, Esq., of Greensburg, as a candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals, subject to the decision of the American Convention.

We have been fortunate enough to obtain a literal report of a very spicy and interesting episode which occurred at the Democratic State Convention. We may call to it the particular attention of the Buchanan Whigs, who are more warm, if possible, in the advocacy of the princi ples to which they were once bitterly opposed, than the Democrats themselves are. In fact their vehemence is so great, that it has caused suspicions to arise in the minds of the "har monious" as to the genuineness of their professions. The dyed in the wool Democrats have discovered, to their astonishment no doubt, that the old Whigs in their ranks expect some share in the spoils, and a far greater share than the Democrats are willing to give them. The Democrats consider themselves ill used by being thrown aside to make room for these new converts, and are beginning to regard them as enemies in the camp. They now boldly charge that the Waigs were actuated by mercenary motives and selfish considerations in going over to the Democratic party. Nay, old line Whigs are now boldly denounced as courtesans who sell their charms for gold, and sell to the highest bidder; that their praises of Democracy are merely the mereticious flatteries of the common drab; that, like Dougal Dalgetty, they fight for those who give the most "pay and provend." We trust that the nosegay will be acceptable, and that its fragrance will delight the nasal organs of those whom some Democrats regard as Swiss mercenaries. We hardly think that a boquet of dog fen nel and onion tops would be more grateful. Its aroma is peculiarly delicate.

The delegate from Nelson is "a plain, blunt man," and speaks his honest sentiments. He said whit many Democrats think, but leave unsaid. His speech was at least pointed, although his com panisons were "odious." It deserves credit for itsgreat conspicuity. Its meaning was within the conprehension of even the most feeble minded of his auditors.

IF We perceive by the Covington Journal, of the 9th inst., that EDWARD B. BARTLETT, Esq., of that city, is announced as a candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals. In a conversation with Mr. Bartlett, since the announcement in the Journal, we learn that it was made by his friends during his absence from Covington, he having left that city before seeing the call for the Convention, to be held on the 27th instant. We are requested to state that, notwithstanding the announcement in the Journal, Mr. Bartlett submits his claims to that Convention. He does not desire to run for any office against the wish of any authorized Convention of the American party .-He does not covet the place without it seems good to the American party to give it to him.

We expect to take no part between the contending candidates for the nomination, but would wish to leave the Convention unembarrassed by any newspaper expression of preference. We will say, however, that if Major Bartlett should obtain the nomination, the Americans will rally to his support, and that he will not only make a gallant race, but that he is competent to discharge the duties of the office, if elected.

If the bees of Hyamettus had alighted upon the lips of some of the delegates to the Democratic Convention, as it is said they did upon those of Plato, and from thence had drawn their sweets, we should exceedingly dislike to have our bread spread with the honey.

THOSE RESOLUTIONS.—In another column we present to our readers the resolutions adopted by the Democratic State Convention, having pub lished them precisely as they were given to us .-In consequence of the lateness of the hour at which we obtained the resolutions, we have been prevented from reviewing them this morning, but will reserve that task for our next issue. We hope our readers may be able to comprehend their meaning.

On Saturday, resolutions were brought into the House of Representatives, expressive of their deep regret at the death of WILLIAM CHENAULT, Esq., the late Representative from Madison coun-We were not personally acquainted with the character of this good man, and cannot, therefore. offer a tribute of respect to his memory which would do him justice; but, by reference to our report of Saturday's proceedings, it will be found that his many virtues were commemorated by several gentlemen who were in every way competent compliment. The slaves should be sent to Kanto discharge the melancholy duty.

IF We understand that, although Mr. R. R. Bolling was at first considerably cast down at hav ng all his expectations so signally disappointed ne has determined to submit heroically to his fate. He intends to bear his crest manfully; and since he cannot obtain the fat place of Clerk of the Court of Appeals, he has resolved to devote his time and energies to some other equally nonorable, although, perhaps, not quite so lucrative a pursuit. Many persons who like him for his good humor and sociability, will wish him good fortune in all honorable undertakings.

There is not the slightest room for doubt but that, if the nomination had come off a few weeks ooner, Bolling would have been the candidate. But as soon as the cry of "Emancipationist" was raised upon him, his prospects rapidly grew 'beautifully less." It may be, and certainly is rue, that Bolling once voted for an emancipa ionist, but there is not a sounder pro-slavery man n the State than he is. We do not pretend to say what were his views when he voted for Hol oway, but certain it is that he is now decidedly altra in his advocacy both of the perpetuation and extension of slavery. He goes as far as any member ef his party will go. The stale and rediculous charge which defeated him was preferred against Henry Clay, Crittenden, and many of the pest and greatest men who ever trod the soil of Kentucky. It has been used on all occasions against candidates for every office. We have ong since ceased to regard it as of the slightest importance, but it is a formidable weapon in the hands of Democrats. It is the falchion with which they have sought to cut down many a galant spirit, and Bolling can at least congratulate nimself upon dying in good company. It is to be noped that his friends will now see the folly and frequent falsity of such reports, and cease to use them against their political opponents. The weapon has been used with terrible effect against one of their own champions and should now be discarded as unlucky.

We have heard the charge of ingratitude made against some parties, as one of the reasons of Bolling's defeat, but, as it is a family quarrel, we will not intrude upon the sanctity of their private affairs.

THE VICE PRESIDENT .- In these troublous days of the Democracy, we hear of considerable speculation in regard to the position of Mr. Breck nridge, our Vice President, upon the Kansas question. Does he side with Douglas or does he support Buchanan? We lately read a number of letters (that were published in the Richmond Va. Enquirer) from the leaders of the Administration party in Washington, addressed to a Mass Meeting in Pennsylvania, all of which sustained the President; but we could find no aces of the Vice President. No letter from im was to be found among the lot, and we can ot imagine the cause of this omission. ollowers in this vicinity are doubtless as anxious as we are about this matter. We have heard in stated over and over again that Mr. Breckinridge was not in favor with the Cabinet, and in view of this fact his present silence looks significant and ominous. He may be a warm supporter of Buchanan, but we have no evidence of the fact The letter-writers of Washington City, who gen rally contrives to pluck out the heart of every pub lic mans mystery, are mute upon this subject.— Of course, Major Breckinridge has no objection whatever to let the country know exactly where e stands in the fight between Douglas and Buc hanan, and it is about time that he should give us some clue or other. It is very true that he was not in Washington when Douglas commend ed the warfare against the President at the be ginning of the present Congress; but that is an unimportant matter. He is the Vice Presi-dent of the United States, and hails from a soutern State, and if Douglas is a traitor to our rights, as the vast majority of the Southern Lo-cofoco presses say he is, he should have thrown his influence against him long ago. We appeal to the Richmond South, and every other Demo cratic paper that has denounced Douglas, if this is not just and proper. These papers have brand-ed the Senator from Illinois and all who side with him as the enemies of the South, and in view of this fact we contend that no southern man who has power and place has the right to hold his peace, or occupy a position in the slightest degree equivocal, while the Administration is at war with these enemies. We know where Buchanan and Douglas stand upon the Leco onstitution question; but let us also know where all the rest of the leaders of the Union saving outh-sustaining Democracy stand. The Local oco flock in Kentucky is wandering about in the direct confusion, and a timely blast from the ougle of the Vice President may gather them to gether again. The Louisville Democrat and the ouisville Courier have their fangs in each other's bowels, and it is time that they were sep arated. The Paducah Herald is also engaged i a rough and tumble fight with numerous l o contemporaries, and we doubt not that Majo Breckinridge might do a great deal just now i the way of peace-making. As a matter of course, we are intensely anxious that complete

NIGHT SESSION.

The Convention re-assembled at $8\frac{1}{2}$ o'clock P. M., and was entertained by various speakers, until 10 o'clock, when Mr. LYNN BOYD, from th ommittee on resolutions, presented the following as the report of the committee:

The Convention of the Kentucky Democracy sembled at Frankfort, January 8th 1858, i view of the interesting and important subjects o a political character, which enlist the attention o he country; and desirous of giving expression t heir opinions in the premises. Therefore,

Resolved, 1st. That we reaffirm the platform of principles unanimously adopted by the National emocracy in the Convention at Cincinnati, held n June, 1856, as fully expressive of our views and aims in all matters to which they relate, and we hold that whatever questions of a doubtful or disturbing nature, calculated to interrupt the harmony of the Democratic party are present ed to us, a recurrence to the first principles o hat party and construction of them according t heir obvious meaning and import, is the only safe rule by which we may guide our conduc and appreciate the services of those we trust i ll matters of State and Federal legislation.

2nd. That we avail ourselves of this, the firs portunity which has been presented to the De cracy of Kentucky, to congratulate the peopl of our own Union, upon the election of James Buchanan and John C. Breckinridge, to the Presi ncy and Vice Presidency of the United States nd we take this occasion to express our deliber ate conviction, that a love for the Union, and ap val of the platform of the Democracy, wer he chief causes to which the country will attrib our success in the elections of 1856.

3d. That we have undiminished confidence in the patriotism and wisdom of our distinguished Chief Magistrate; and believe that the views expressed by him, iu his first annual message to the Con ress of the United States, in reference to the ad sion of the State of Kansas into the Federal nion, are wise, patriotic and just.

4th. Approving, as the Democracy do, the prin ples embodied in the organic laws establishin Territories of Kansas and Nebraska, as just necessary and proper, we cordially acquiesce in the doctrines stated and maintained by the Su eme Court of the United States in their decision the Dred Scott case; whereby the Democrati nestic slavery in the Territories, has been au oritatively considered and confirmed by th ourt of highest resort; the rights of the people of all the States placed on an equal footing; and ographical lines coinciding with a marked prin iple, religious or practical, pronounced to be a ariance with the letter and spirit of the Consti ution of the United States. And we hold, fur her, that all efforts of Abolitionists, or othe ersons, to weaken the force of that opinion, o epublican and revolutionary.

5th. Reminded by the associations connecte with the day on which this Convention meets, w would again express our high appreciation of th character and public services of that illustrious patriot, soldier, and statesman, General Andrew

Hon. C. A. Wickliffe then offered the following ion, which was unanimously adopted. Resolved, That we acknowledge with pleasur and pride, the services and co-operation of th

National Whigs who have aided the Democrati party in the support of those cherished prin-ciples, upon which the stability of the Union depends, and the equal rights of its citizens

The vote being taken the resolutions were dopted with a few dissenting voices. After several speeches from various delegates, the convention adjourned sine die.

Further News by the Atlantic. Great Britain .- President Buchanan's Messag ttracted great attention in England. It was te graphed entire from Liverpool to some of the condon journals, being the longest dispatch even sent by telegraph in England. The London Time its review of the Message, confines itsel to two topics, the financial crisis and the Centra American question. It construes Mr. Buchanan's remarks upon the former subject into a tribute to the monetary subject of England.

On the Central American question the Times ays:
"We have much pleasure in receiving the as surance from Mr. Buchanan that the interests o the two countries are identical, being confined t securing a safe transit over all the routes acros Let the American Governmen give proof of this, and we are sure that matter will be speedily settled. TO all persons afflicted with Sexual Diseases, such as SPERMATORRHŒA, SEMINAL WEAKNESS, IMPOTENCE, GONORRHŒA, GLEET, SYPHILIS, the Vice of ONANISM, or SELF-ABUSE, &c. &c.

The HOWARD ASSOCIATION, in view of the awful destruction of human life, caused by Sexual diseases, and the deceptions practised upon the unfortunate vicinum of such diseases by Quacks, several years ago directed their Consulting Surgeon, as a CHARITABLE ACT worthy of their name, to open a Dispensary for the treatment of this class of diseases, in all their forms, and to give MEDICAL ADVICE GRATIS, to all who apply by letter, with a description of their condition, (age, occupation, habits of life, &c..) and in cases of extreme poverty, to FURNISH MEDICINES FREE OF CHARGE. It is needless to add tha the Association commands the highest Medical skill of the age, and will furnish the most approved modern treatment.

The Directors, on a review of the past, feel assured that their labors in this sphere of benevolent effort, have been of great benefit to the afflicted, especially to the young, and they have resolved to devote themselves, with renewed zeal, to this very important but much despised cause.
